

Lucky Me!

I thought I'd let you know about my surprise windfall.

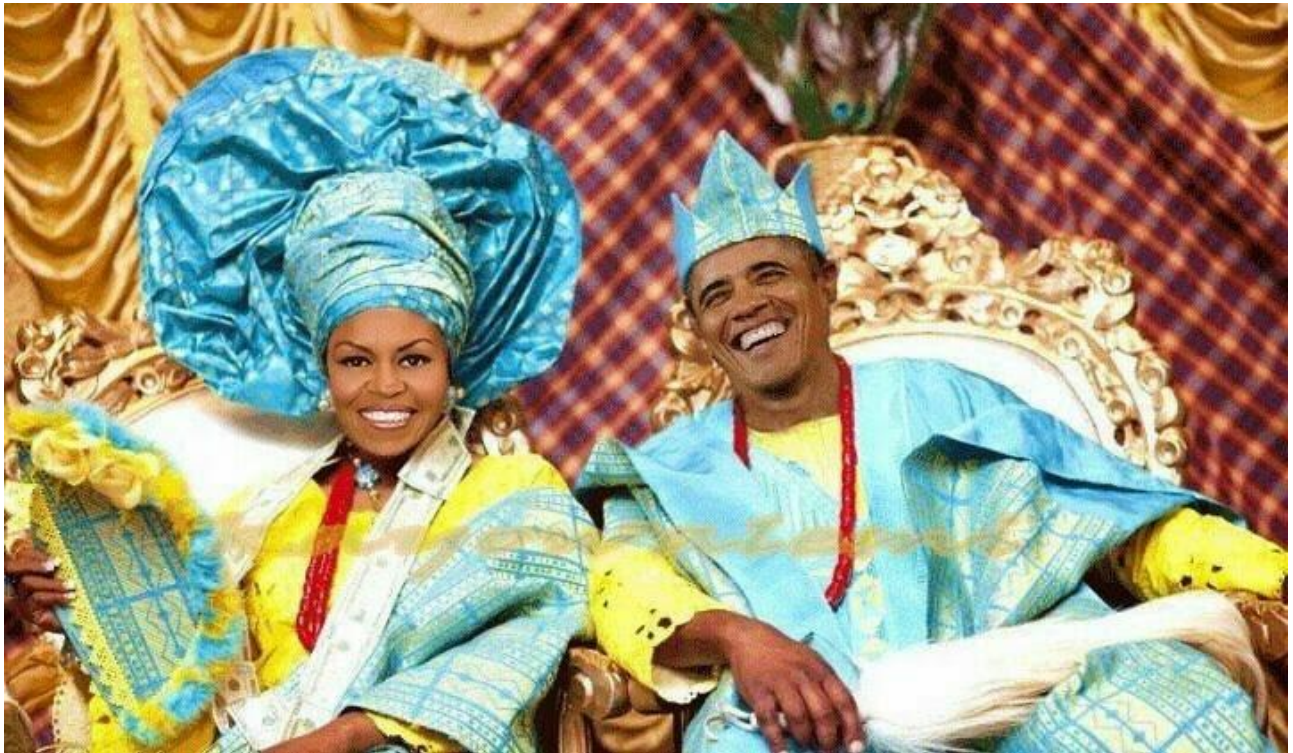

Today I won a Nigerian lottery, according to an email I received from a Nigerian prince named Tyrone the Second.

He holds the sum of one million dollars in my name and he wants to send it to me ... free!

All I have to do is give him my bank account numbers and send him $500.00 US dollars cash to show my good faith so he can transfer the money!

And then I got another email! It's from some Kenyan fool who wants to give me free healthcare ... for life!

All I have to do is give him my bank account numbers, my Social Security number, my confidential health information, and pay $900 each month for a policy with only a $10,000 deductible. Then he will make it happen!

Am I on a roll or what?!